

NATIONAL CENTER
for URBAN EDUCATION
ILLINOIS STATE UNIVERSITY

Surviving to Thriving:

Cultivating Culturally Responsive Restorative Practices in the Classroom

This virtual workshop series is for practicing educators who are interested in implementing and refining Culturally Responsive Restorative Practices in their classrooms.

- Learn the cultural foundations of restorative practices.
- Determine how your positionality and identity informs your restorative practices.
- Discover how to align practice with community values.
- Examine how neuroscience impacts learning and relationships.

Tuesdays

6 – 7:30 PM

February 8 – March 15, 2022

15 CPDU hours included

Instructors: Dr. Apryl Riley and Jennifer O'Malley, National Center for Urban Education (NCUE)

Cost: $ 350.00

Registration: Click Here

Last Day to Register: Friday, February 4, 2022 at noon